Maxwell

—a car built 1/1000 of an inch fine

THE word "fine" has many meanings. Applied to a car it may mean the car looks fine, or it may mean the car is built fine.

The public usually makes up its mind about the former, and hears little about the latter.

Maxwell is a car built to very fine limits. When you begin to separate an inch into one-one thousandth part you will readily realize the pains taken to make the Maxwell right.

It means that each one of the working parts of the Maxwell are made accurate to that exceedingly fine point.

There's a good reason for this. In a great production like the Maxwell there would be a tremendous waste of time and materials unless there was such painstaking accuracy.

It would mean a car $200 more in price.

That is why Maxwell parts are "ground to size"—the most expensive operation in modern machine shop practice—not hand-fitted as they are in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

And, by the way, that is why some cars cost hundreds of dollars more.

So that is one of many reasons why there is a 300,000 run on this single Maxwell chassis model. 300,000 built all on the original chassis program. 300,000 that are giving an extraordinary record of themselves.

Each new Maxwell is better than the last. Each new Maxwell is finer than the one that went before.

It is built fine. That's our idea of a fine car.

BUSINESS STABILITY.
Evidence of the stability of business today is the fact that during a five months' period of stagnation, the number of business failures has been unusually low.
At the present time there is less concern over high prices than there is with regard to the stability of prices. It now appears that the wisest business men are those who decide now to go ahead with the construction of buildings and the production of goods; the need for both forms of activity are more imperative than ever before.
After an extended study of prices, it is the opinion of the majority of public works and construction development that a new price level has been established by the economic conditions attending the world war; and that economic forces appear to have already acted to stabilize prices at a level below which they are not likely to fall to any appreciable amount in the near future. It is believed that the growing confidence in the evidence of business in this country, as well as the facts that have been learned through the study of the price situation.

RED CROSS SERVICE.
The Red Cross in the last four years has had an opportunity to show to the world that it can render service to mankind. It has been engaged on one of the greatest emergency cases the world has ever known. It has acquired itself with glory, and hundreds of thousands bless the brave men and women of its organization who have untrillingly given their best so that suffering humanity could find some relief from suffering.
But now they are going a step further. Instead of acting in the emergency, it is planned that they save life through education. A new department of the American Red Cross in the middle west will teach the housewives the way to health by the dining room route. A branch of the National Bureau of Dietetics Service has been established in central division; its function will be to teach the people what to eat.
One of the main problems which the Red Cross expects to solve through this bureau is that of child feeding. The Red Cross instructors will go directly into the towns of the division to instruct mothers. In this way, the great evil of malnutrition for children—which results in an annual death rate of 500,000 children under five years of age—may be eliminated.
The central idea of the classes in dietetics will be education in health. It will be the aim of the Red Cross to teach mothers that thin children are not normal children and that it is not so much a question of feeding children enough as it is of feeding them the right kind of food. Intelligent feeding has been proven to be the road to health.
According to the plan of the Red Cross the dietetic division will not confine its work to the child, but will teach correct feeding for all ages.

BURLESON CHANGES MIND.
Postmaster General Burleson, advisor-in-chief to President Wilson for several years, assumed a receptive frame of mind yesterday and took advice from his chief. Mr. Burleson declared that he will surrender the telegraph and telephone companies to their owners as soon as arrangements can be made to have them taken over. In fact, Mr. Burleson, who has run things under his jurisdiction with a high and mighty hand, has had to back down. It was not his fault, though, that he changed his position. The democratic party leaders, deciding that it was about time to put the muffer on Burleson. The prospects for a successful presidential campaign do not appear as rosy as they might and party wheelhorses have decided that now is the time to back track a little.
President Wilson, a few weeks ago, declared that the league of nations covenant could not be amended with his consent, but he has changed his mind and the latest draft of that document presents an outline which may be acceptable to many of the senators who bitterly opposed the first covenant.
The president cabled Burleson to come off his high horse, according to advice coming out of Washington. Pressure also was brought to bear by party leaders. Public dissatisfaction over the wire service also has had a great deal to do with the decision made by Burleson. He says in his statement: "The postmaster general has recommended to the president that the government return the cable lines to their respective owners. This action is made possible by the fact that the congestion resulting from war conditions has largely passed. The postmaster general hopes that the return of the cables may be effective not later than May 10."
"The postmaster general will also recommend that the telegraph and telephone lines be restored to their owners as soon as legislation can be secured from congress to safeguard the interests of the owners in every way that it is possible to safeguard them."

It would be a great relief to the public if those aviators who are trying to cross the Atlantic in airplanes either made the big jump or decided to give it up. It is like waiting for the fellow to drop the "other shoe."
A few months ago President Wilson appeared to hold the opinion that this country could not get along without him. But we have managed to worry along in pretty good shape. Now with Burleson seeing the light, we may be able to get back into our stride.

OUR FAVORITE PRESS AGENT SAYS:
While the customers sat out front of the Selwyn theater last night enjoying the performance of "Tumble In," little did they know that for a time the famous retiring scene of the "Tumble In" girls came perilously near being omitted through the non-arrival of the girls' costumes from the cleaners. A calamity was averted, however, at the last moment, when the cleaners' little boy, who said he had lost his way, made his belated appearance at the stage door with the packet of thirty or more "costumes" safely tucked in his overcoat pocket.
THE RETURN OF THE BIRDS.
I hear from many a little throat A warble interrupted long; I hear the robin's flute-like note, The bluebird's slender song. Brown meadows and the russet hill Not by the haunt of grazing herds, And thickets by the glimmering rill Are all alive with birds.

Sketches From Life -- By Temple

WHO'S WHO in the Daily News

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW.
Chauncey M. Depew, who has been United States senator, who, despite that, has endeared himself to a multitude of his countrymen—and women—was 85 years of age on his last birthday. Notice, if you please, it is not said here that Mr. Depew is 85 years old. He is as young as he feels; he is perennial.
"Never felt better in my life," said Mr. Depew in Peckskill, recently, smiling like a boy with a new top.
The former senator, etc., etc., marked as a matter of course, that he was at his office in the Grand Central station on his birthday. The Montauk club of Brooklyn gave its usual dinner in honor of his birthday. It was 28 years ago when Mr. Depew made a few remarks at such a dinner, at Montauk, a few shrimping, blushing words in the brilliancy of which the night seemed dim and the glass and silver dull. The Lotus club asked Mr. Depew to dinner. He has been a member of the Lotus for the brief space of 45 years.
"I have lived long because I enjoy life and try to help others to enjoy it," said Mr. Depew. Then he went on to stroll a few miles in the sunlight as eternal as himself.
Peckskill, where he was born, naturally regards Mr. Depew as its finest product. He gave a park to that town and set up a statue of himself in it. His friends expressed the earnest hope, that time will have crumbled that statue before Chauncey M. Depew feels older than he does—or is—today.
Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew also gave a dinner in celebration of Mr. Depew's anniversary.
Mr. Depew is prominent in many railroad and banking corporations and has always been active in politics. He once received 99 votes for presidential nomination at the Republican national convention in 1888.

COUNTY FAILS IN "NEAR EAST" DRIVE

Rock county's final report of subscriptions to the "Near East" fund for Armenian relief filed with state headquarters yesterday by J. M. Whitcomb, county campaign chairman, shows a total of $10,805.52. The county's quota was fixed at $14,857.00. Although the county fell short of its allotment by more than $4,000, the results in the precincts in which the campaign was carried on were most gratifying. A number of townships made no reports whatsoever to Mr. Whitcomb. Contributions to the fund may still be sent to him.
Janesville went over the top early in the campaign together with Beloit, Evansville, Edgerton, Milton Junction, and the towns of Lima, Townsboro, Fulton, Bradford and Milton. No other reports have been received.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST

LIFE'S VOLUME.
When life's last page before us lies And we have grown so old and wise From pondering the volume through What shall we gather in review. What but some loved one's lovely smile Shall we determine 'most worth while? There at the ending of life's book We'll turn for just one backward look And come to find that home and friends Are life's best treasures when life ends. The gold we gathered and the fame Vanished as swiftly as they came. The early chapters when we dreamed Were not as glorious as they seemed. Then we were hot for strife and fought. The distant goals for which men fought, Envy, were envied in our turn. And quarreled over self's concern. Here were great disappointments met. That caused us sorrow and regret Yet we outlived them all, and faced The next day's labor, undistressed. And found this truth, through good or ill. The loyal friend is loyal still. Much that we toiled for, craved, and got, Thought worthy once, now matters not. But that which counted we shall find Was when another called us kind. And those days at our best were spent. Which left us rich with sentiment. When life's last page before us lies And we have learned its volume wise We shall not count our coins of gold Nor live the days when we were wild. The days that saw our loved ones smile Will be the joys we hold worth while.

MYERS PLANS TO HAVE DE KOVEN OPERA CO. HERE

Peter Myers informs the Gazette that he is in negotiation with the management of the De Koven Opera company and that there is a reasonable hope of securing it for one performance, of "Robin Hood" on Tuesday May 13. He has secured an option on that date.

The chief obstacle seems to be that the expense which is necessarily incurred in these times of high transportation charges, high salaries, and high everything else is so very great, especially of a company capable both in size and artistic excellence and equipment to produce opera up to the standard which has always been maintained by the De Koven Opera company in "Robin Hood", that the management of the company feels that every engagement entered into must be, for the good of all concerned, properly safeguarded. A large amount of money is required each day to meet expenses.

If this money is not provided by sufficient patronage, losses occur, which no business, artists or otherwise can withstand.

Mr. Myers wants to secure this company and believes that the people, especially music lovers, would like to have it come here. He thinks a sufficiently large number of them will be willing to pay in advance that they will attend the performance, if he contracts to bring the company here.

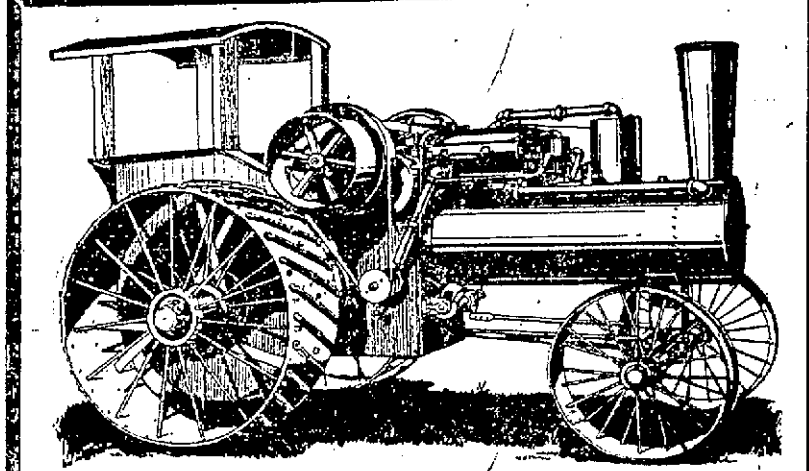

This plan of advance subscription, if adopted and is successful, will afford the patrons or subscribers first choice of seats, and will also, it is believed, cause them to feel that they are in this way co-operating with Mr. Myers, in securing an attraction which he alone does not feel justified in bringing here at his own risk.

He points out that this advance subscription plan is now universally adopted in all large cities such as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston as a necessary and perfectly natural safeguard in advance of the big opera seasons and other important musical undertakings. As the loss risk is relatively even greater here on this proposed engagement he knows of no reason why the people should not help in advance by saying they will attend if a contract is made to bring the company here.

All who feel interested in the matter are requested to call at the Majestic theatre and subscribe for the number of tickets they can use, or telephone a request that their names be placed on the subscription list. "Robin Hood" is undoubtedly the most famous and most popular comic opera ever produced. Shall we have it here? The answer seems to be up to our people themselves.

CONCRETE PAVING WORK COMMENCES

Work of paving the Janesville-Beloit trunk-line has been started on the Beloit end. Contractors awarded the job yesterday unloaded five carloads of machinery, tools and horses and distributed them along the proposed highway to be built of concrete.

Work will be started at the Town Line bridge. A big camp has been established at Powers' tunnel, a short distance this side of Yost Park.

In Beloit the paving will extend one mile in the city to connect with the pavement on Pleasant street. Altogether the stretch is five and one-half miles and will connect with the stretch from Janesville. It is the plan to start the Evansville end at once and to open the entire distance at the same time. Four and one-half months will be consumed on the Beloit end.

Evansville News

Evansville, April 28.—The body of the late Mrs. Hugh Martin, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Benedict, Beloit, was brought to Evansville for interment Sunday. The funeral services were held at the Beloit cemetery where Rev. Hugh Misdall had charge of the service.

First Baseball Game.—The first baseball game of the season was played on the school campus last Friday between the teams of the Oregon and Evansville high schools, and resulted in a victory for the Oregon team. The score was 14 to 18 for the local team. In spite of the cool weather a large crowd was present.

Personals.—Miss Doris Blackmun, a graduate of Beloit college, received a telegram from Green Lake, Saturday, asking her to report there for a position in the high school, Monday. She will teach mathematics and physics. Miss Blackmun finished her course in Beloit the latter part of March.

Frank Gardner is now a full-fledged salesman for Hubbard, Spencer, Bartlett company, Chicago. Mr. Gardner has been in the Chicago house for training since the first of the year. He has been assigned territory in Iowa and his household goods will be shipped to West Union, Iowa, this week. He has sold his residence property here to Arthur Devine, who is taking possession this week.

Miss Constance Ward, Madison, spent Sunday with Evansville relatives.

Miss Nelda Schneider joined Mrs. Schneider in Beloit, Saturday, and the two went to Racine for a visit with their sister, Mrs. Charles Erickson.

Ezra Glidden purchased a new car yesterday.

Miss Zara Pierce, who has just finished a business course in Janesville, has accepted a position in the office of the D. E. Wood Butter company.

Robert Hart, Chicago, was a recent Evansville visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Evans are making many new improvements on the house they recently purchased on West Liberty street. It is now being raised on a new cement block foundation. A furnace will be installed, and also modern plumbing throughout.

Miss Tillman Harper, who teaches in the west, has been the guest of her parents on West Liberty street.

Mrs. Saunders, who has been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. O. W. Smith, will leave about the first of May for Wisconsin, where she will spend a few months with relatives and friends.

Jacob Rockshberger has recently purchased a new car.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Congregational church will meet with Mrs. Lauren Buxley at her home on West Liberty street, Thursday afternoon.

The Tuesday Evening club of the Methodist church met with Mrs. Gertrude Eager at her home on Main street last evening.

Several relatives gathered at the home of Albert Gibbs, Sunday, to help him celebrate his birth anniversary.

Miss Hazel Van Warner has returned to her home in Janesville after a week-end visit with relatives here.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank all the friends and neighbors who so kindly and lovingly assisted us during our great sorrow. We deeply appreciated the beautiful flowers and the cars that were so freely offered us.

HOME FROM OVERSEAS; FIRST TO CROSS RHINE

John Bradley, son of Mrs. Mary Bradley, of the town of Rock, returned home Saturday from overseas. He had longed to the First Division. He sailed for overseas with the first troops, leaving Hoboken, June 24, 1917. He was wounded when his company recaptured the town of Castigny. After several weeks in the hospital he was back in the fighting until he was wounded in the Argonne Forest, in which the First Division lost 8,554 men of whom 117 were officers.

After recovering from his wounds he joined his company and six days after the armistice was signed left Abincourt, near Verdun, and by a blunder of more than two hundred miles, occupied that Coblenz bridge head, December 24. His was the first American force to cross the Rhine. After six weeks in the states as a casual with a fractured leg and after two weeks in the Red Cross hospital in New York City, he was sent to Camp Grant, where he was discharged, Saturday.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Women are not really satisfied any more by merely doing something which no other woman has done, nor are they satisfied by doing something not many other women have done. They have broadened their field of endeavor and are now doing everything that anybody else can do. They are entering the professions and trades and are succeeding in both. A woman up in Milwaukee has decided to give up her profession and enter the automobile industry.

She is Mrs. "Billy" Poletika and her new undertaking is a far cry from the original work she came to this country to do. Mrs. Poletika came to the United States from Russia with the Russian war commission to inspect munitions. Mrs. Poletika then went to Rochester University and was graduated from the dental school. But she decided that dentistry was too confining and she sought out-of-door work. Her husband became interested in tractors and went west to work for a Wisconsin plant.

Mrs. Poletika, who had seen women of classes do all kinds of work and do it well while she was visiting many industries where women are employed, felt that while she was getting the out-of-door life that she needed she should apply herself to doing something useful. She chose the automobile industry and is now aiming to be a saleswoman and demonstrator. At present she is acting as "trouble man" in a garage. She acts on the theory that if she would become a real saleswoman and demonstrator she must know all about the eccentricities of gas engines. She has driven cars for eight years, but this her first experience as a mechanic.

When asked about her new venture she said, "I know I am going to like it."

And then despite her boyish look she betrayed a trait of femininity by arranging the many locks of hair under her cap, using the polished door of the car she was working on for a mirror.

MORE WOMEN GO OVERSEAS

To speed the American doughboy on his homeward way and to make pleasant the time that he called upon to spend in Merrie England, twenty-five American women, fifteen of whom are from New York City and suburbs, have been sent by the War Department to Great Britain to help carry on the work of the Y. M. C. A. there. They will join the 2,701 other women workers that the "Y" already has on the other side.

NEEDS RE-ADJUSTMENT

The elegant Roman, whether Italian or foreigner, gets her clothing from Florence, Milan, Turin or Paris. It is not "the fashion" to dress in Rome. So the dressmaking firms are always in a bad way, utterly unable to compete with outside rivals. All this increases the number of unemployed, underfed and immoral girls, whose ranks are swelling to such proportions that sooner or later the government will have to be taken up publicly before anything can be done to better the position of women in Italy.

TWO PRIZES GIVEN FOR BIRD HOUSES

Two prizes will be given by the Gazette in the bird house contest. Judges had difficulty in determining the better of the two large houses entered, the green one and the white one. The prize was awarded to the green one by Charles W. Lamb claiming honors for carpentering and amount of work required, the log cabin martin and wren-house made by James Franklin, holding the honors for artistry.

These two boys will each be awarded a prize for their efforts. They are asked to call at the Gazette office for their awards.

The bird houses are on exhibit in the windows of the Sheldon hardware store.

Stray Dogs Targets for Police Riflemen

Police department sharpshooters are receiving a good workout. Trump canines are the targets. A large number have been killed this spring. Several others have been shot before the accurate aim of Police Sergeant Roy Worthing and other officers.

A CHANCE TO LIVE

BY ZOE BECKLEY

CLOTHES THAT PUNISHED.

Some of the samples were of such size that four were ample to cover Annie's small frame. But, of course, no two were even the exact same shade. Suppose the green were being used. Annie's front breadth would be of "No. 23, bottle green," and "No. 24, hunter's green." Her back would be "No. 25, dark olive," and "No. 26, mossy agate." Same way with the browns.

Moreover, the buttons, while looking alike at first glance, were all different in pattern or color when you examined them closely. Annie's mother always said: "It looks all right. Why, nobody'd ever notice it in the world!" She really thought so. She never dreamed of Annie's sufferings under the sample system. Perhaps she didn't know how keen children's eyes are, how quick to discover peculiarities—things that made you feel that you were not alone in your enjoyment of experimental woes.

Some of the sample dresses were worse than others. The green was particularly bad. Annie's spirit turned to lead the days she had to wear it.

"Ooooh—look-at! Yer buttons are all kinds!" some child on her last school day would exclaim. "Why are they like that?"

Annie's face would burn with mortification. She never knew what to answer. She readied herself to go to the playground at recess. The classroom bench would no longer hide the molar of her hairnet. There would be more looks, more giggles, more whispering behind her back.

How Annie longed to tear off the hated garment and stamp upon it. Instead, she stayed apart from the other children all she could and steeled herself not to cry before them. Once she so rebelled against the dress that she played hockey and wandered almost to Union Square, feasting her eyes on the clothes displayed in windows. Aunt Margaret, coming from one of the office buildings, stumbled across her and made her tell why she was not in school.

"Oh, Aunt Maggie," Annie sobbed. "I can't stand being different. I'm going to—run away or—something!"

And Aunt Maggie took her to a big store on Fourteenth street and bought her a dress that Annie picked out for herself. Annie felt like another being.

She still had the adored dress, but was not allowed to wear it to school except on occasions. Still, it helped just to have it.

Also, Aunt Margaret had promised to buy her another one.

"Tonight as she undressed Annie recalled that promise. But the pleasure of it was poisoned by the doubts that tormented her since the baby carriage incident and the policeman's dereliction.

Sleepily as she put herself to bed beside "Lillian Russell," she pondered many things. Her father's words, "When your mother and your Aunt Margaret and I promise you things it's different," gave her renewed faith. Then came the haunting, "It wasn't worth it, was it? If we were rich—Why weren't we?"

What made some people rich and some almost dazed off. Was the policeman rich? Was Aunt Maggie rich? She must be. How did she get rich? Would she show Annie how to get rich and buy clothes that would have people keep promises—

FIRST WOMAN ON HARVARD FACULTY

Dr. Alice Hamilton.

The first woman to hold a position on the Harvard University faculty will be Dr. Alice Hamilton of Chicago. She has been appointed by the board of overseers as assistant professor of industrial medicine in Harvard medical school. Dr. Hamilton obtained her medical degrees from the University of Michigan in 1896. She studied at several other universities in this country and in Europe and since 1910 has been investigating industrial poisons for the federal department of labor.

(It chopped parsley when ready to serve.)

Sweet Potato Pluff—Boil three medium sized sweet potatoes (with skins on) until thoroughly done; peel on fork while hot and mash with potato masher; add a tablespoon of butter and sugar to taste; dash of cinnamon; one cup of sweet milk with an egg beaten in it. Bake in slow oven in casserole until set.

Peach Surprise—Use a can of dessert peaches that are cut in halves; take the white of an egg and whip until very stiff and dry; add half cup sugar; fill peaches with this mixture and put under a slow fire until it is a light brown; when serving pour a little of the juice over them and decorate with half a nut or cherry in center.

Bran Cakes—Two large cups of sugar, one large spoonful of lard and butter mixed, two eggs, one cup of sour milk or buttermilk, one large spoonful of soda, two spoonfuls of baking powder, one and one-half cups of bran, two and one-half cups of flour; flavor with nutmeg.

Cup Custard—Beat two eggs until light, and three heaping tablespoons sugar, pinch salt and a little flavoring. Add this to three cups milk. Sprinkle with a little nutmeg and bake in custard cups placed in deep pan half filled with water.

Doughnuts—One cup sour milk or cream, one cup sugar, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon nutmeg, one egg, one cup flour; roll out. Cut with a doughnut cutter. Fry in hot lard. Take out when done, drain a few minutes, then roll in sugar.

WARM WEATHER RULES.
First—Keep the house screened.
Second—Kill each and every fly in the house.
Third—Do not allow food to stand in an exposed condition.
Fourth—Keep the garbage pail well covered.
Fifth—Disinfect the garbage pail twice a week.
Sixth—Do not allow rubbish to accumulate.
Seventh—Repair all breaks in screens and doors as soon as they appear.
Eighth—See that the screen door has a good catch for a quick closing.
Ninth—Fresh air, sunlight and clean premises prevent disease.

As long as you are merely friends and you have no reason to think that the young man is falling in love with you, it is not necessary to tell him about the soldier in France. It would be a shame, however, to speak of him some time.

ANSWER—Three of grandma's boys may have survived in spite of her, but I'll wager she killed as many as she raised. They seldom count the failures when telling about how they raised their babies. You fail to mention what you feel the baby's disease may be due to excess of sugar or starch in the food.

Dig League and Bush League Surgery
What is the difference between minor and major surgery? Is a general anesthetic used by a minor surgeon? I am informed that our doctor can do only minor surgery. (K. H. M.)

ANSWER—It is merely an arbitrary distinction between serious operations and less serious ones. Eminent or "well known" surgeons have a way of making every operation a major one, whereas the unpretentious country doctor makes light of the same work. The anesthetic is immaterial. A general anesthetic is often necessary for a minor operation and a major operation may be done under a local anesthetic.

A Minor Operation Needed.
I have on the right shoulder blade what doctors call a fatty tumor, some nine years, the size of an egg. Doctors say nothing but the knife will cure it. The bulging is a blemish and annoys me all the time. Please tell me what to do. (B. E.)

ANSWER—The lump could easily be removed by the doctor, under a local anesthetic, without any risk or inconvenience to you.

THE WISHING PLANE

BY WILLIS WINTER

You remember in the last story that a most terrible noise had awakened Jack, Jane and Booh in the fairy house.

When Jack went to the door he saw a great big airplane, bigger than any he had ever dreamed of or ever heard about. It was just coasting down to the ground at the edge of the woods. It landed in the field and rolled along until Jack thought it was going to run over him, but it didn't. He called to Jane, and she came running out. Just then from the airplane out stepped a great big man and a lovely lady.

The man was about the biggest one that little Jack had ever seen. Maybe it was his uniform and goggles that made him look so big.

Jack knew in a minute that he was an American soldier. He looked just like Uncle George who had said goodbye to mother and father early in the war and who mother said would never come back again.

The lady, Jane thought, was the most beautiful person she had ever seen. He had on a cute uniform, too, for even ladies here to wear uniforms when flying, and you just couldn't help loving this lady the minute she smiled.

"Hello, little folk," said the lady. Jack and Jane said "hello" and Booh just wagged his tail. She walked over to them, saying, "What have we here, a fairy house?" The big man came, too, for he wanted to see the little children who lost their pappas.

The big man had to get down on his hands and knees and even the lady had to stoop a little bit to get through the door.

"Isn't this just wonderful?" both said as they looked in. "How did you get here?" the lady asked.

So Jack told her all about their walk and their wish to see something new and to have people to play with. "Now I suppose you are wondering who we are," said the lady.

Sure enough, that was just what the children wanted to know, but Mother had told them never to ask such questions.

"Well, this is Captain Brave," said the lady. "And this Ladydear," said the lady.

Then Ladydear told the children how Captain Brave, after many great deeds in the big war, had been wounded and brought to the hospital where she was a nurse. They soon loved each other so much that as soon as Captain Brave was well again they were married, and as soon as the war was over they had come home in Captain Brave's big airplane. Now they were going to take a trip around the world.

"And you will fly over the ocean and across all the countries and see all the battlefields and everything," exclaimed Jack. "And you'll see all the queens and beautiful princesses and all the poor little children who lost their pappas and mammas and were so hungry and cold and without a home during the war," said Jane.

"That's right," said Ladydear. "And I'll tell you what we will do. If your mother and father will say yes, you can come along and see these things, too. Jack and Jane were so happy they couldn't say a word for a minute. Booh must have known something was going on because he was walking around on his hind legs and doing other tricks to show them how clever he was.

But Ladydear seemed to know without their saying anything that they wouldn't like anything better in the world, so putting her arms around both of them, she said:

"Come, now, we will all get into the airplane and fly back to Make-Believe Town."

So they all got in. Jack sat in the pilot's seat with Captain Brave. Jane sat close to Ladydear, for she was just a little frightened. Booh found a little place all his own as far front as he could get, because as you will soon hear, Booh was a very inquisitive dog and got into much mischief because of it.

Captain Brave started the engine whirling and they soared away from the fairy house and the woods, back to Make-Believe Town.

An in the next story we will tell you what happened there.

SIDE TALKS

—By—
RUTH CAMERON

Not Exactly Pretty But—

"Is she pretty?" I asked when I heard some people talking yesterday about a queer woman who has come to live in our neighborhood. (My mother used to say resentfully that I always asked that first. As if, forsooth, every woman doesn't think that first of every woman who comes into the circle of her life, whether she always says so at first or not.)

"No, she's not exactly pretty," said the man who had been raving about her, "but she is very—"

I could hear the words coming. He stopped to choose his word, but I knew what he was going to say before he did. I could fairly hear the word coming.

"Attractive," he finished finally—just as I knew he was going to. Haven't you observed what a vague word that word has had in the last few years? And not only the word but the sort of woman it describes.

Pretty, Handsome, Beautiful or Plain? There was a time when a woman was either pretty, handsome (connoting usually a fine figure and a commanding presence) or beautiful (meaning to some a higher degree of prettiness to others, a quality far transcending prettiness) or, if she could be decided by none of these adjectives, she was plain.

It is only within the last few years that the woman who has not regular enough features for prettiness, size and flesh enough for handsomeness, nor the transcendent quality of beauty, and yet who is far from plain, has been qualified under the excellent adjective "Attractive."

Who is She? A noun has also been found for her. It describes the appeal of her personality just as "attractive" describes her appearance. She has charm in this sense, the sense in which it is used in Mr. Burrier's well known play, has not into his own. Incidentally, one cannot help wondering if she, who is the apotheosis of the attractive woman with charm, just as Mr. Burrier's first prophet, has not much to do her first recognition of the type. She has given us such a supreme embodiment of charm that she opened our eyes to its lesser manifestations all about us. Surely, I do not need to tell you who "she" is.

So they all got in. Jack sat in the pilot's seat with Captain Brave. Jane sat close to Ladydear, for she was just a little frightened. Booh found a little place all his own as far front as he could get, because as you will soon hear, Booh was a very inquisitive dog and got into much mischief because of it.

Captain Brave started the engine whirling and they soared away from the fairy house and the woods, back to Make-Believe Town.

An in the next story we will tell you what happened there.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a girl of seventeen. I have a married sister who goes to dances and to every dance. Do you think it is right for her to go without her husband? She is twenty years old and he is thirty and does not care for dancing.

(2) I am going with a boy and he asked me if he could kiss me, and I let him. Did I do wrong? I have only seen him twice and he did not like me. Do you think this can be so? I think of him all the time and seem to love him.

(3) I also go with another boy, but I do not like him and want to give him up. But I am afraid he will say mean things about me—he does about all the rest of the girls he ever went with.

(4) WORRIED SISTER.
(1) Your sister should not go to dances without her husband. When she married him she was familiar with his tastes and knew he did not like dancing. She should love him enough to give up dancing unless he learns to dance or goes with her.

(2) You should not have kissed the boy. It makes light of love. If he would not live with you, it is the second time he was with you. Doubtless he has declared his love to other girls before you, and will do the same to many more girls in the future. Regard him as a friend only. You are too young to think of him in any other way.

(3) Drop the boy you do not like. It is dangerous to have a friend who talks about his former friends, and the sooner you sever connections with him the better it will be. Your character should be such that it will stand the test of anything that may say. If, however, other boys upon short acquaintance or do anything else to cheapen your reputation, people will believe gossip about you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl twenty years old and have been teaching school in a little village not very far from home.

(1) While there I met a boy whom I like very much, but he is terribly conceited. He was very nice to me and I could like him a lot better if he were not so conceited. Could I tell him without hurting his feelings?

(2) He came to see me a few days ago and seemed very much agitated because there were several other friends at the house when he came. Had he any right to be?

(3) I have another friend in France who is older than I am. I like him a lot too. He has given me several handsome presents and I think he intends to ask me to marry him when he returns.

(4) You might help the young man by telling him that he is conceited, but I doubt it. His age probably has much to do with his confidence in himself. Later he will discover or be made to discover by the rest of us. When he admires himself and you think he has no reason to, you might tactfully tell him your opinion.

(5) If you had an engagement with the young man and other people called without telling you that they were coming, he had no right to be jealous. If he is so jealous, he is without asking him if the arrangement would be agreeable to him. I can see that he would have reason to object.

As long as you are merely friends and you have no reason to think that the young man is falling in love with you, it is not necessary to tell him about the soldier in France. It would be a shame, however, to speak of him some time.

ANSWER—Three of grandma's boys may have survived in spite of her, but I'll wager she killed as many as she raised. They seldom count the failures when telling about how they raised their babies. You fail to mention what you feel the baby's disease may be due to excess of sugar or starch in the food.

Dig League and Bush League Surgery
What is the difference between minor and major surgery? Is a general anesthetic used by a minor surgeon? I am informed that our doctor can do only minor surgery. (K. H. M.)

ANSWER—It is merely an arbitrary distinction between serious operations and less serious ones. Eminent or "well known" surgeons have a way of making every operation a major one, whereas the unpretentious country doctor makes light of the same work. The anesthetic is immaterial. A general anesthetic is often necessary for a minor operation and a major operation may be done under a local anesthetic.

A Minor Operation Needed.
I have on the right shoulder blade what doctors call a fatty tumor, some nine years, the size of an egg. Doctors say nothing but the knife will cure it. The bulging is a blemish and annoys me all the time. Please tell me what to do. (B. E.)

ANSWER—The lump could easily be removed by the doctor, under a local anesthetic, without any risk or inconvenience to you.

tle of cream.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Grandma at Her Old Trick
Our baby is five months old, partly breast fed, partly bottle fed. When she was four months old my mother-in-law began to feed her chocolate tannies until I refused to allow it any longer. She other children all she could and steeled herself not to cry before them. Once she so rebelled against the dress that she played hockey and wandered almost to Union Square, feasting her eyes on the clothes displayed in windows. Aunt Margaret, coming from one of the office buildings, stumbled across her and made her tell why she was not in school.

"Oh, Aunt Maggie," Annie sobbed. "I can't stand being different. I'm going to—run away or—something!"

TANKS, POSTERS AND MEDALS WILL AID VICTORY LOAN DRIVE

The photos show Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols Watrous and her Victory loan poster; Carter Glass, left, and Frank R. Wilson unfurling the flag which has hung over the dome of the capitol during the two years of struggle; below, French "whippet" direct from "no man's land" to aid in Victory loan drive. Insert shows first Victory loan medal made from melted metal of captured guns.

The whole country is busy preparing for the approaching Victory loan. Washington recently witnessed the dedication of a historic flag to the coming campaign. The flag which flew over the dome of the capitol when President Wilson was inaugurated, when war was declared, and when the armistice was signed has been presented to the treasury department and will be given to the state attaining the largest percentage of oversubscription to the loan. In New York Mrs. Elizabeth Watrous, well known in both society and art circles, is busy painting a poster that will help to boost the loan. The French "baby" or "whippet" tanks will also play a part in the drive. A shipload which recently arrived in New York will be distributed throughout the country, carrying literature and a soldier bond salesman. Duplicates of the medal shown above will be awarded to each worker in the campaign. The originals were made from melted metal of German captured guns. President Wilson, Secretary Glass and Mr. McAdoo will get the three original medals.

The Daily Novelette

No Answer.
Little Rollo had finished his lesson on the literature of the early Guteses and was taking a little walk with Prof. Proons, his tutor.

"Oh, look, professor," said little Rollo. "What's that curious place, where the men are all sitting on high stools like little birds on mamma's clothesline?"

"That is a quick lunch counter, Rollo," replied Professor Proons. "That is where the business men eat their luncheon every day in from four to seven minutes."

"And what makes their hats move up and down so funny?" inquired little Rollo. "The magnificent muscles, Rollo."

"But why don't they take their hats off when they eat, professor dear?"

"Look at the time they save by leaving them on, Rollo!"

"How, professor dear? How does that save time?"

"It's a lovely day, Rollo," said Professor Proons hurriedly. "Exactly ninety-four years and six minutes from now. Bushky's comet will reappear. It's time to return to the classroom for you dixerotomy lesson."

TOWN LINE

Town Line, April 26.—The box social held Friday evening in the school house of joint district No. 2, Rock and Beloit, was well attended and was a pleasant social affair as well as a financial success. TRAVELING SALESMAN

Tells How He Regained Strength, Ambition and Vim.

Atlantic, Iowa.—"I am a traveling salesman and was run-down, worn out, no appetite and no ambition my druggist told me Vinol was what I needed and within a few days after taking it I commenced to gain and it built up my health and strength so every spring and fall I take it to build me up and it keeps me in splendid condition."

W. E. Brockelsby.
The reason we guarantee Vinol is because it is a constitutional remedy containing beef and cod liver, phosphates, iron and manganese phosphates and glycerophosphates the most successful tonics known.

Smith Drug Co. Vinol is sold in Broadway by W. J. Smith and Druggists everywhere.

Mrs. Anna McGuire, Janesville, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Will Casey.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowley and Mr. and Mrs. Will Baker and son, of Janesville, took dinner with James Rowley and family and spent the afternoon with Robert Rowley, Jr., and family.

MAGNOLIA

Magnolia, April 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Will Woodstock and daughter are moving to Evansville, where they will reside with her father, Mr. Reese. Jessie Surien, Albany, has rented Mr. Woodstock's farm for a term of three years, and is moving here today.

The weekly A. C. prayer meeting will be held at the T. M. Harper home. Miss Anna Ross entertained a company of friends last Thursday night.

Neighbors spent last Saturday plowing for Glen Clark, and by night had 27 acres plowed, besides some dragging.

Roy Glenwood of Minnesota, arrived here with his family Thursday night and began working for Glen Clark Saturday. His family will stay at the Lou Barringer home until their goods arrive here.

Roy Greenwood and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Barringer took supper at the John Barringer home Thursday.

The Helper's Union will meet at the home of Mrs. T. M. Harper Thursday afternoon.

No Drawback.

The best story accredited to Sir Aston Webb, president of the British Royal academy, concerns a politician. "I wonder what he'll do now?" said one. "What's the matter with him?" "He's lost his reason," replied the other. "Oh, that won't matter, so long as he retains his voice!" was the retort.

Bird Siren Gives First Concert In Woody Grove

(BY J. D. O'HARA.)

The brown thrasher, the siren of the bird world, has arrived and has given its first concert, which was poorly attended on account of the inclement weather. He brought with him all the latest songs and sings them in such sweet, clear, and melodious tones as to make one spellbound with such entrancing music.

Caruso, McCormack, Melba, Calvo, Padewski, Sousa, and all the noted song and musicians are but pigmies when compared to this little bird, which utters sweet songs from his little throat as easily as water flows in the brook.

The next concert will be held on the first warm day. The program will not be published, but will be most varied. The admission is free to those who will go to any deeply wooded grove. These concerts will continue throughout most of the summer months, and will be sung every morning and evening—even if no audience is present to entice them.

But if you have not the time to travel to the woods where these concerts are held, why not encourage a pair to make their home in your back yard? They are playing a game whereby they can build their nests and rear their young? They will repay you not only by their sweet songs, but will rid your premises of the insect pests which destroy vegetation.

One authority who watched these birds claims that a pair will destroy more than 5,000 insects in one season. Pretty good record for two birds.

The brown thrasher, which is about the size of a robin, has brown back and tail, is white underneath, with white breast spotted with brown and yellow eyes.

Another arrival is the wood thrush, which resembles the brown thrasher, but is somewhat smaller. His sweet, musical song when once heard will be indelibly stamped on your memory for all time.

If you have never heard one of these birds sing, it will certainly be a surprise to you to hear them. They may be found in thickly wooded groves near river or lake.

Still another arrival is the little brown wren, and he has been inspecting all the new additions as well as the old ones, for a little one room house, and reports a great shortage of them. He is under the care of a doctor.

Mrs. H. Hanson went to Janesville, Monday morning, and underwent an operation of tonsillotomy.

Mrs. Ernest Husted are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl who came to their home Sunday. Mother and daughter are both reported as doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. Albie Peterson, Albany, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Peterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Beck, Rev. M. A. Drew and A. M. Smiley went to Center, Monday, to visit with the mother of Mrs. Beck and Mr. Smiley, who is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Will Howell.

DELAVAN

Tales of the Friendly Forest

We haven't heard anything about dear Uncle Lucky, the old gentleman rabbit uncle of Billy Bunny, for a long time. Perhaps you have been wondering what had become of him. Well, I'll tell you. He has gone to Washington to see Uncle Sam about the Bunyaville Boy Scouts. They wanted an immense big flag and some rifles and a drum. So the kind old gentleman rabbit had polished up his old wedding stovepipe hat and wound his gold watch and chain, and then he had bought his ticket.

Well, he spent about a week with Uncle Sam and Aunt Columbia, and now he was on his way back to his little house on the corner of Lettuce avenue and Carrot street, Bunyaville, U. S. A.

And you may be sure that Billy Bunny was there at the station to meet him with the Luckymobile. And gentleman rabbit hopped out of the parlor car. Clover, Top and in less than 500 short seconds he and Billy Bunny were driving away as fast as they could go to the old gentleman rabbit's little white house.

"Well, I'm glad to get back," said Uncle Lucky. "I've got something for you, but I'm not going to give it to you until you tell me you've been a good little rabbit while I've been away."

"Oh, I've been as good as a gold Liberty bond," said Billy Bunny. "Every morning I've polished the brass doorknob and fed the canary, and mother says I'm a great help."

"And you did hear it," said Uncle Lucky, and then he took a little package out of his pocket. "Here's something for you," he said. And when the little rabbit opened the pasteboard box, what do you think he found? You'll never guess, so I might as well tell you at once. It was a little silver ring with the American flag in red, white and blue. "Hurray!" cried the little rabbit, and he put the ring on his third left front paw toe. "Isn't that scrumptious?" Which means mighty fine, I guess.

Well, after that they rolled along in the Luckymobile till, all of a sudden, just like that, a voice cried out: "Where are you going so fast away? Please stop your auto and have a play."

"I am so lonely out here by the tree. No one to talk to but only me."

So the old gentleman rabbit stopped the Luckymobile, and then Billy Bunny looked all around but they didn't see anybody.

"Who are you?" asked Uncle Lucky, and then he took off his goggles and put a spyglass up to his eyes. But even then he couldn't see anything but a little red ant crawling up a tree.

"A little red ant, did you speak just now?"

"No, I didn't," replied the little ant. "And please don't talk to me when I'm climbing up a tree. I might slip and fall. And then, I'm hungry and I did. And in the next story I'll tell you what happened after that."

Real Wild West Show Makes Hit In Paris With Montana Cowboy the Star Performer

JACK RAY'S "Whoop-ee!" Draws Chorus of "Oo-La-Las!" from Admiring Frenchmen at Y. M. C. A. Entertainment.

Paris has had its first real taste of an honest-to-goodness Wild West show—lances, Indian whoops, red handkerchiefs and all. Until recently, "wild and woolly Westerners" has been the term for all Americans. It took Jack Ray, of Montana, to show the boulevardiers the difference, and now he is one of the sights of the French capital, along with the Venus de Milo and the Eiffel Tower.

Back home, Montana Jack is known as the champion trick rider of the world, the man who can lasso more horses while standing on his head than any other person can do right end up. He was a corporal in the Eleventh Veterinary Hospital at Gievres until the army detailed him to the Y. M. C. A. to entertain homesick doughboys with his skill.

Jack's Paris performance was given at the Palais de Glace, the most elaborate recreation structure in all Europe. Within its walls the "Y" has a big canteen, lecture rooms, reading rooms, billiards and every other kind of amusement and educational and rest facilities for the doughboy and his friends. It is a favorite center for the poilu, and he takes every opportunity to get invited there because the "Americans" have the best of everything.

It was an extra gala event, however, when the Wild Westerners cut loose, and Jack, of course, was the star. "Montana" spun circles all around himself with his lasso, kept three of them going at the same time and roped dozens of invisible horses while in the act of turning somersaults. He was a Wild West show all by himself and the doughboys and poilus greeted him with whoops of delight.

Not only is Jack's performance one that would win applause anywhere, but he is the back-homeliest thing the doughboys have seen this side of the Atlantic. As for the Frenchmen in the audience, they took so kindly to the new form of entertainment that one of the leading vaudeville houses has tried to engage Jack. The proprietors feel that their patrons would like the stunt, they explain—it is so American!

In spite of the praise, Montana Jack will remain in the Y. M. C. A. entertainment bureau until he is free to come home again to the land of the real Wild West show.

BASEBALL HERE FIGHTING FOR LIFE

By George McManus.

PLAYERS FAIL TO SHOW AT MEETING

There was supposed to have been a meeting of the members of the Janesville Baseball club last night. Herb Kalkuske and "Sonny" Vinay showed up.

One last chance. Consequently, unless those players who didn't show up last night get in touch with the writer QUICK, there will be no game in Edgerton next Sunday.

More tickets must be sold immediately, and it is squarely up to the players to sell them in order to raise enough money to pay the team's expenses to Edgerton.

At present, the team has not even a baseball with which to practice, and needs, badly.

Seven Bones in Dumper. There are seven dollars in the treasury, and a ten dollar check is reported "en route." If they ever get here, the club will owe about $35 for uniforms and equipment.

It will take $60 to pay for these uniforms and get the club to Edgerton and back, Sunday.

That's got to be raised quick, or the Edgerton date will have to be cancelled.

Game With Beloit. The Janes have a game here a week from Sunday with the strong Beloit Apprentices. But the Janes must keep that Edgerton date in order to raise enough money to place the Beloit club's guarantee.

The writer is at the Gazette all day and will be pleased to receive any suggestions, or help, none of which has ever been forthcoming thus far.

Otherwise, Janesville will have no baseball club this season.

HITS

Leonard Wallops Ritchie. Newark, N. J., April 29.—With forty seconds left to go to the final bell, Ritchie, "Silent" Brennan pulled Willie Ritchie from under a shower of Benny Leonard's punches here last night, saving the former lightweight champion of the world from a total knockout at the hands of the present title holder.

The California boy was helpless on the sagging ropes. He had been half asleep throughout the two minutes and forty seconds of the round after Leonard had clipped him on the jaw with a right and then with a left. He had taken a licking from the very start of the fight.

Long Distance Race. Chicago, April 29.—The best distance runners in Chicago have entered the Victoria "Sprint" race. The race of the Illinois Sportsman's Club that will be held on the West Side Sunday. The lists will close Thursday night with Al Blumenthal, 1424 S. Albany ave.

Among the favorites for the contest are Joe Stout, Frank Gillespie, Henry Dobler, Al Parker, Joe Mendes and Joe Tigerman.

Johnny Ertle Defeated. ny South Bend, Ind., April 29.—Frankie Mason of Fort Wayne proved too much for Johnny Ertle, the former bantamweight champion. In ten rounds of mauling last night, Mason outpunched Ertle three to one, and at no time was the Hoosier boxer in difficulty. Ertle's blows had more steam than did Mason's, but the latter's clever dodging and footwork earned him the newspaper verdict. Eddie Grip of Chicago knocked out Jack Bandiers in the second round in the preliminary.

Griffiths Scores "A. O." Akron, April 29.—Johnny Griffith, Akron, knocked out Walter Mohr, New York welterweight, in the eighth round of a scheduled twelve-round bout last night. Mohr substituted for Willie Langhlin, Philadelphia, who is ill with pneumonia.

Chambers Defeats Louman. Pittsburgh, Pa., April 29.—Young "honey" of Baltimore defeated Louman of Lockport in a ten-round bout last night, in which the Baltimore boy showed considerable cleverness.

Chenguan Wins Shoot. Atlantic City, N. J., April 29.—W. N. Saut of Chicago won the weekly shoot which ended yesterday on the million dollar prize. Saut broke two out of 25 targets and also earned a long run trophy by breaking 60 blue rocks before missing one. He topped off 132 with the performance.

Keeps Swimming Title. Oakland, Cal., April 29.—Miss Elizabeth Ryan of Philadelphia, holder of the National A. A. U. 220 yard swim championship, defeated Miss "Brown" Rowley, an Oakland swimmer, in the National A. A. U. 220 yard swim Monday. Her time was 3:08.25.

'Y' STARS CHALLENGE BASKETBALL CHAMPS

The "Y" All-Stars basketball team is anxious to arrange a game with St. Patrick's, probable winner of the "church league." The "Y" manager said to the writer: "It is possible that a contest between the two teams can be fixed for next week."

A game between them would prove one of the tightest and hardest fought in the city. Both are well equipped but speedy, accurate at baskets, and put up strong defense.

BRINGING UP FATHER:

Pirates May Well Hope for Winner

Above, left to right: Cooper, Stengel. The Pittsburgh Pirates are off in the National league free-for-all with their heads up and cheerful heart for the first time in many seasons.

And it isn't a wild hysteria, with them. They have a right to have rosy visions of first division and a real chance at the banner.

Hugo Bezdek has a sweet outfield. He has Wilbur Cooper and Earl Hamilton, a wonderful pair of south-paws.

He has a good staff of right-handers. And the rest of his team is composed of average ball players at least.

SPORT SERIAL

(By K. L. EAGON) Walter Johnson held the fast-stepping Boston Red Sox to six hits yesterday, but was beaten because the Red Sox rallied twice and hit opportunely.

The Cincinnati Reds and the Brooklyn Dodgers haven't lost a game as yet, the Reds winning five and the Dodgers four. That's the way the Reds and Dodgers have started off since the days of Cap Anson.

Now that baseball is as dead in Janesville as a flock of crows, the writer is figuring on week-end jaunts to Chicago to look over the big show. Come on, you Sox!

The Philadelphia Athletics have lost some tough games this year thus far and look very much like they will not hold down the American league color this year. It took the New York Yankees twelve innings of fast baseball yesterday to beat Scott Perry, 3 to 2. Quinn and Shawkey labored on the mound for the Yanks.

SNAD! SNAD!

Memories. Memories. Days which might have been, Memories. It sure isn't a sin, Memories. Of that great old game, Memories. They hummed you, I know, But you'll never show, That you'll give them YOUR memories.

It's a long time that has no turning, but some of them have too many steps.

Back to the Hot Stove League.

The boss broker in this morning with a sweater as wide as a sand lot pitcher's career and admitted that driving a fiver 18 miles these mornings was a good job for an Esquimaux.

We tried to get a ball and stage a Big Baseball Dance this week in order to raise funds to take the trip to Edgerton next week, but we couldn't get the ball.

SO LONG, BELLERS.

The acquisition of Casper Stengel, late of the Dodgers, gives Bezdek a trio in the outfield which includes Casey, Max Carey and Billy Southworth.

Southworth has been a batting star in the National circuit two seasons. He was nominally the leader last year. Max Carey is the fastest man in the circuit on the paths. He's the king of base robbers. Stengel ranks high as a fielder and hitter.

The hitting strength of the outfield will be greater than it was last season by reason of Casey's arrival.

Buster Caton, who is booked to play short, has bolstered up his batting. His holding is o. k. With Moll-witz on first, probably Cutshaw on second and Young Terry or Boeckel at third, Hugo has a fair infield. More than that, one of the youngsters may prove a brilliant star.

Mayer and Babe Adams lead the remainder of the pitching squad. Billy Evans, a rookie, has a good name.

Big Walter Schmidt and Ed. Sweeney will do the catching. Fred Blackwell, a young receiver, will be carried along and given plenty of chance to learn the fine points of the game.

All in all the Pirates have a good looking club and may be heard from before the flag is won.

REAL RING CARD TO BE OFFERED FANS HERE ON MAY 6

(By K. L. EAGON) Jimmy (Young) Demetral, cyclonic Greek wrestler, will be in Janesville last night and today. He put in his time well, for before he left town, he got Manager Myers of Myers Theatre to agree to stage a real wrestling and boxing card on Tuesday night, May 6. On this night, Demetral will meet The Masked Marvel in a finish fight, winner to take all of the gate receipts. Two boxers will put on a fast four round exhibition.

Earl Barker of Janesville and Young Schard of Beloit will wrestle to a finish.

Close to Being Twins.

Two little girls, dressed alike, entered a store, when the man coming to wait on them said: "Are you little girls twins?" "Well, pretty near," said one of them: "there's only a pound difference."

JUNIOR STARS TRIM BLACK EAGLES, 27-6

The Junior All-Stars defeated the Black Eagle nine, 27 to 6, at the fourth ward park Sunday afternoon. Slighton featured the game. Zahn and D. Dawson, pitching for the Stars, allowed but six hits, while Breakney and M. Dawson, on the mound for the Eagles, were touched for 21 hits. Next Sunday the Junior Stars will invade Shoniere to cross bats with a fast team there. All players are ordered to be out for practice at the fourth ward park tonight.

POLISH WRESTLER AGAIN FLOPS LEWIS

Chicago, April 29.—Wladok Zozko, giant Pole, repeated his eastern victory over Ed ("Strangler") Lewis at the Coliseum last night by pinning his man to the mat in 2 hours and 14 minutes with a scissors and side roll. The end came just as it did in New York—as a complete surprise. Lewis was winning all the way with nasty headlocks and had one just before being duped into the grip that decided the issue.

Psalm CXXIV.

The godly bless God for a miraculous deliverance.

- If it had not been the Lord who was on our side, now may Israel say;
2. If it had not been the Lord who was on our side, when men rose up against us:
 3. Then they had swallowed us up quick, when their wrath was kindled against us:
 4. Then the waters had overwhelmed us, the stream had gone over our soul:
 5. Then the proud waters had gone over our soul.
 6. Blessed be the Lord, who hath not given us as a prey to their teeth.
 7. Our soul is escaped as a bird out of the snare of the fowlers; the snare is broken, and we are escaped.
 8. Our help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth.

For our miraculous deliverance from the sword, for the half million of our stalwart sons whose lives were saved by the early ending of the war, for the kindness and mercy of a just God to a free people, let us thankfully subscribe to the Victory Liberty Loan.
